DISCOVER PERFECT

There's More to Discover...

The Atherton Tablelands' naturally beautiful landscapes stretch from the coastal escarpment behind Cairns, Cassowary Coast and Port Douglas, to the Gulf Plains in the west and the Cape York Peninsula bioregion to the north, providing nearly 65,000 square kilometres of scenic bliss to discover.

The dynamic landscape of rainforest, wetlands and outback savannahs reveals tropical fruit farms, local dairies, agricultural expanses, country markets and an eclectic mix of communities.

Mareeba and Atherton serve as bustling population centres with plentiful shopping and local providore. To the Northwest, the smaller towns of Kuranda, Dimbulah, Chillagoe and Mount Molloy, and to the South, Tolga, Malanda, Yungaburra, Herberton, Ravenshoe, Millaa Millaa and Mount Garnet, all contribute to the distinctive character of this unique region.

Revel in mountaintop views from Queensland's highest peak, explore the national parks, venture off-road to discover fire trails for mountain biking, or chase waterfalls - all before settling into a cosy B&B cottage or eco-retreat for the night.

For water enthusiasts, Lake Tinaroo offers the chance for kiteboarding and skiing while the crater lakes are perfect for kayaking and stand-up paddle boarding.

Explore historic World War II sites like Rocky Creek and Millstream Falls and step back in time at the charming heritage-listed towns dotted across the region which have changed very little over the last 100 years.

Foodies can indulge in locally crafted cheeses, chocolates and an array of agricultural delights. Depending on the season, savour locally grown single-origin coffee, avocados, mangoes, lychees, potatoes, macadamias, peanuts, blueberries and more. Plus, delve into the cellar-door experiences, showcasing tropical wines and locally crafted spirits.

Discover why the Atherton Tablelands should top your drive list with wide open skies and starry nights, natural crater lakes and waterfalls and a food paradise brimming with local produce. Whether seeking peace and quiet or outdoor adventure, the Atherton Tablelands offers a mosaic of enriching travel experiences.
